judicial office means the office of Magistrate or special justice;

Magistrate means a person holding office as a Magistrate under the Magistrates Act 1983;

- (3) If a claim that is not within one of the classes referred to in subsection (2) is introduced into a minor civil action, the action ceases to be a minor civil action unless the Court orders that the subsequent claim be tried separately.
- (4) If a neighbourhood dispute or a minor statutory proceeding involves—
 - (a) a monetary claim for more than $6 000; or
 - (b) a claim for relief in the nature of an order to carry out work where the value of the work is more than $6 000, a party may elect, in accordance with the rules, to exclude the dispute or proceeding from the rules governing minor civil actions¹, and in that case, the dispute or proceeding ceases to be a minor civil action.

- (5) Proceedings for a contempt of the Court will be regarded as a civil action or a criminal action according to whether the contempt relates to proceedings in a civil division or the criminal division of the Court and where the contempt is unrelated to proceedings in the Court, the proceedings for contempt will be regarded as a criminal action.

 - (a) the action appears to have been brought on reasonable grounds; and
 - (b) the property may be required to satisfy a judgment that has been, or may be, given in the action; and
 - (c) there is a substantial risk that the defendant will dispose of the property before judgment is given, or before it can be enforced.
- (2) A restraining order must be served as directed by the Court.
- (3) A person who deals with property subject to a restraining order except as permitted by the order commits a contempt of Court.
- (4) The Court may vary or revoke a restraining order at any time.
- (5) If it appears to the Court that grounds for making a restraining order exist but the Court requires further evidence to identify property in relation to which the order could be effectively made, the Court may summons the defendant, or issue a warrant to have the defendant arrested and brought before the Court, for examination on that subject.

27—Mediation and conciliation

- (1) Subject to and in accordance with the rules, the Court constituted of a Magistrate (whether sitting with assessors or not) may, with or without the consent of the parties, and any other judicial officer or a Registrar may, with the consent of the parties, appoint a mediator and refer an action or any issues arising in an action for mediation by the mediator.
- (2) A mediator appointed under this section has the privileges and immunities of a Magistrate and such of the powers of the Court as the Court may delegate.
- (2a) A mediator appointed under this section must not, except as required or authorised to do so by law, disclose to another person any information obtained in the course or for the purposes of the mediation.
- (2b) The Court may itself endeavour to achieve a negotiated settlement of an action or resolution of any issues arising in an action.
- (2c) A Magistrate or other judicial officer who attempts to settle an action or to resolve any issues arising in an action is not disqualified from taking further part in those proceedings but will be so disqualified if he or she is appointed as a mediator in relation to those proceedings.
- (3) Evidence of anything said or done in an attempt to settle an action by mediation under this section is not subsequently admissible in the proceedings or in related proceedings.
- (5) Where a case is settled under this section, the terms of the settlement may be embodied in a judgment.

28—Trial of issues by arbitrator

- (1) The Court may refer an action or any issues arising in an action for trial by an arbitrator.
- (2) The arbitrator may be appointed either by the parties to the action or by the Court.
- (3) The arbitrator becomes for the purposes of the reference an officer of the Court and may exercise such of the powers of the Court as the Court delegates to the arbitrator.
- (4) The Court will, unless good reason is shown to the contrary, adopt the award of the arbitrator as its judgment on the action or issues referred.
- (5) The costs of the arbitrator will be borne, in the first instance, equally by the parties or in such other proportions as the Court may direct, but the Court may subsequently order that a party be reimbursed wholly or in part by another party for costs incurred under this subsection.

29—Expert reports

- (1) The Court may refer any question arising in an action for investigation and report by an expert in the relevant field.
- (2) A person to whom a question is referred under this section becomes for the purposes of the investigation an officer of the Court and may exercise such of the powers of the Court as the Court delegates.
- (3) The Court may adopt a report obtained under this section in whole or part.

- (4) The costs of the expert's investigation and report will be borne, in the first instance, equally by the parties or in such other proportions as the Court may direct, but the Court may subsequently order that a party be reimbursed wholly or in part by another party for costs incurred under this subsection.

30—Law and equity

- (1) Legal and equitable claims and defences may be included (without discrimination between them) in the same action.
- (2) If there is a conflict between the rules of common law and equity as they apply to a particular action, the rules of equity prevail.

31—Alternative forms of relief

- (1) Although a particular form of relief is sought by a party to an action, the Court may grant any other form of relief that it considers more appropriate to the circumstances of the case.
- (2) In particular—
 - (a) where a party seeks relief by way of injunction or specific performance, the Court may award damages in addition to or in substitution for such relief;
 - (b) where a party seeks foreclosure of the equity of redemption in mortgaged property, the Court may, instead of ordering foreclosure—
 - (i) direct the sale of the mortgaged property; or
 - (ii) direct a transfer of the mortgage debt and security to a person who agrees to assume the debt.

(This subsection is not exhaustive.)

32—Declaratory judgments

The Court may, on matters within its jurisdiction, make binding declarations of right whether or not any consequential relief is or could be claimed.

33—Interim awards of damages

- (1) In an action for damages, the Court may give a declaratory judgment finally determining the question of liability between the parties, but leaving the quantum of damages to be determined subsequently.
- (2) The Court may, at the time of giving declaratory judgment or subsequently, order the defendant—
 - (a) to make such interim payments as the Court thinks fit on account of the damages that are yet to be finally assessed (but such payments should not include any allowance for non-economic loss unless the Court is satisfied that there is good reason for including such an allowance);
 - (b) to give such security as the Court thinks fit for the payment of damages yet to be assessed.
- (3) If—
 - (a) declaratory judgment is given in a case of personal injury; and
 - (b) the injured person is incapacitated (wholly or partially) for employment; and

- (c) it appears to the Court that the injured person is not making adequate efforts towards rehabilitation for employment,
- a component of an interim payment attributable to loss of earnings must not exceed 75% of the loss of earnings over the period to which the interim payment relates.
- (4) A party to an action in which declaratory judgment has been given may at any time apply to the Court for a final assessment of damages.
- (5) If an application is made under subsection (4) and—
- (a) the action arises from personal injury and the medical condition of the injured person appears to have stabilised; or
- (b) four years or more have elapsed since the date of the declaratory judgment, the application should not be refused except in exceptional circumstances.
- (6) If a party in whose favour a declaratory judgment has been given dies before the final assessment of damages—
- (a) the administrator of the deceased's estate may continue the action for the benefit of the estate (in which case the deceased's damages will be finally assessed to the date of death and further allowance may be made for damages allowable under the Survival of Causes of Action Act 1940); or
- (b) if the deceased's death was caused or accelerated by the circumstances out of which the action arose—the administrator may convert the action into one on behalf of dependants under the Wrongs Act 1936.
- (7) If the administrator converts the action into one on behalf of dependants, the Court will, in assessing damages on behalf of the dependants, make a proper allowance for damages paid to the deceased.

33A—Consent orders for structured settlements

In an action for damages for personal injury, the court may, with the consent of the parties, make an order for damages to be paid wholly or in part in the form of periodic payments, by way of an annuity or otherwise, instead of in a lump sum.

34—Pre-judgment interest

- (1) Unless good reason is shown to the contrary, the Court will, on the application of a party in whose favour a monetary judgment has been, or is to be, given include in the judgment an award of interest in accordance with this section.
- (2) The interest—
- (a) will be calculated at a rate fixed by the Court; and
- (b) will be calculated in respect of a period fixed by the Court (which must, however, in the case of a judgment given on a liquidated claim, be the period running from when the liability to pay the amount of the claim fell due to the date of judgment unless the Court otherwise determines); and
- (c) is, in accordance with the Court's determination, payable in respect of the whole or part of the amount for which judgment is given.
- (3) The Court may, without proceeding to calculate interest under subsection (2), award a lump sum instead of interest.

- (4) This section does not—
- (a) authorise the award of interest on interest;
 - (b) authorise the award of interest on exemplary or punitive damages;
 - (c) affect damages for dishonour of a negotiable instrument;
 - (d) authorise the award of interest (except by consent) on a sum for which judgment is given by consent;
 - (e) limit or affect the operation of any other enactment or rule of law dealing with interest.

35—Interest on judgment debts

- (1) A judgment debt bears interest at a rate prescribed by the rules.
- (2) Subject to any direction by the Court to the contrary, the interest runs—
 - (a) in the case of taxed costs—from the date the costs are taxed or an earlier date fixed by the taxing officer;
 - (b) in the case of any other monetary sum—from the date of the judgment.

36—Payment to child

- (1) Although a party to an action is a child, a Court may order the payment of money to that party.
- (2) Where such an order is made, a receipt given by the child is a valid discharge for the person to whom it is given.

37—Costs

- (1) Subject to this Act and the rules, costs in any civil proceedings will be in the discretion of the Court and may be awarded against any person (whether a party to or a witness in the proceedings or not).
- (2) If proceedings are delayed through the neglect or incompetence of a legal practitioner, the Court may—
 - (a) disallow the whole or part of the costs as between the legal practitioner and his or her client (and, where appropriate, order the legal practitioner to repay costs already paid);
 - (b) order the legal practitioner to indemnify his or her client or any other party to the proceedings for costs resulting from the delay;
 - (c) order the legal practitioner to pay to the Principal Registrar for the credit of the Consolidated Account an amount fixed by the Court as compensation for time wasted.
- (3) The Court may not make an order against a legal practitioner under subsection (2) unless the Court has informed the practitioner of the nature of the order proposed and allowed the practitioner a reasonable opportunity to make representations, and call evidence, in relation to the matter.

- (4) If a person who is summoned to appear as a witness in any proceedings fails, without reasonable excuse, to appear in obedience to the summons, the Court may order that person—
- (a) to indemnify the parties to the proceedings for costs resulting from failure to obey the summons;
 - (b) to pay to the Registrar for the credit of the Consolidated Account an amount fixed by the Court as compensation for time wasted in consequence of the witness's failure to obey the summons.

Division 2—Minor civil actions

38—Minor civil actions

- (1) The following provisions are applicable to the trial of a minor civil action:
- (a) the trial will take the form of an inquiry by the Court into the matters in dispute between the parties rather than an adversarial contest between the parties;
 - (b) the Court will itself elicit by inquiry from the parties and the witnesses, and by examination of evidentiary material produced to the Court, the issues in dispute and the facts necessary to decide those issues;
 - (c) the Court may itself call and examine witnesses;
 - (d) the parties are not bound by written pleadings;
 - (e) the Court is not bound by the rules of evidence;
 - (f) the Court must act according to equity, good conscience and the substantial merits of the case without regard to technicalities and legal forms.
- (2) At or before the trial of a minor civil action, the Court should explore any possible avenues of achieving a negotiated settlement of the matters in dispute.
- (3) After giving judgment in a minor civil action, the Court—
- (a) should advise the unsuccessful party of his or her right to apply for review of the proceedings by the District Court; and
 - (b) should give the successful party any advice or assistance as to the enforcement of the judgment that the Court considers appropriate in the circumstances; and
 - (c) if there is a judgment debtor who is present, should proceed immediately to investigate his or her means of satisfying the judgment and to take any further action that appears appropriate in view of the results of that investigation.
- (4) The following provisions govern representation in minor civil actions:
- (a) representation of a party by a legal practitioner will not be permitted unless—
 - (i) another party to the action is a legal practitioner; or
 - (ii) all parties to the action agree; or
 - (iii) the Court is of the opinion that the party would be unfairly disadvantaged if not represented by a legal practitioner;

- (ab) however, the Court may, in its discretion, permit representation of a party by a legal practitioner at the hearing of an interlocutory application;
 - (b) if a party to the action is a body corporate, the Court must, if the party seeks to be represented by an officer or employee who is not a legal practitioner, permit such representation;
 - (c) if a person is subrogated to the rights of a party, the Court will permit that person to appear in the proceedings on behalf of that party and to be represented in the same way as if that person were a party;
 - (d) the Court will permit a party, or a person subrogated to the rights of a party, to be assisted by a person who is not a legal practitioner but only if that person is not acting for fee or reward.
- (5) In a minor civil action costs for getting up the case for trial, or by way of counsel fees, will not be awarded unless all parties were represented by counsel, or the Court is of opinion that there are special circumstances justifying the award of such costs.
- (6) The District Court (constituted of a single Judge) may, on the application of a party dissatisfied with a judgment given in a minor civil action, review the matter.
- (7) The following provisions apply to such a review by the District Court:
- (a) the right of a party to be represented by a legal practitioner at the review will be determined in accordance with subsection (4);
 - (b) the Court may inform itself as it thinks fit and, in doing so, is not bound by the rules of evidence;
 - (c) the Court may, if it thinks fit, re-hear evidence taken before the Magistrates Court;
 - (d) in determining the matter, the Court may—
 - (i) affirm the judgment; or
 - (ii) rescind the judgment and substitute a judgment that the Court considers appropriate; or
 - (iii) if the review arises from a default judgment or summary judgment, rescind the judgment and—
 - (A) substitute a judgment that the Court considers appropriate; or
 - (B) remit the matter to the Magistrates Court for hearing or further hearing;
 - (e) in hearing and determining the review, the Court must act according to equity, good conscience and the substantial merits of the case without regard to technicalities and legal forms.
- (8) A decision of the District Court on a review is final and not subject to appeal.
- (9) However, the District Court may reserve a question of law arising in a review for determination by the Full Court of the Supreme Court which may determine the question and make any consequential orders or directions appropriate to the circumstances of the case.

39—Determination in minor civil action creates no issue estoppel

A determination of an issue in a minor civil action does not prevent the parties from again litigating the same issue in different proceedings based on a different claim.

Part 6—Appeals and reservation of questions of law

Division 1—Appeals from Civil Division of Court

40—Right of appeal

- (1) A party to a civil action (except a minor civil action) may, in accordance with the rules of the Supreme Court, appeal against any judgment given in the action.
- (2) If the rules of the Supreme Court provide that an appeal from a judgment of a particular class can only be brought with the permission of that Court, the right of appeal is limited accordingly, but in any other case an appeal lies as of right.
- (3) The appeal lies to the Supreme Court constituted of a single Judge but the Judge may (if he or she thinks fit) refer the appeal for hearing and determination by the Full Court.
- (4) If jurisdiction to try the civil action is created by statute and the terms of the statute are such as to indicate that Parliament did not intend that there should be an appeal from a decision made in the exercise of that jurisdiction, that intention prevails.
- (5) A right of appeal conferred by this section extends to a legal practitioner, witness or other person against whom an order under section 37 is made.

41—Reservation of questions of law

- (1) The Court may reserve any question of law arising in a civil action (except a minor civil action) for determination by the Supreme Court.
- (2) Where a question of law is reserved for determination by the Supreme Court, that Court may determine the question and give any consequential orders or directions appropriate to the circumstances of the case.

Division 2—Appeals from Criminal Division of Court

42—Appeals

- (1) A party to a criminal action may, subject to this section and in accordance with the rules of the appellate court, appeal against any judgment given in the action (including a judgment dismissing a charge of a summary or minor indictable offence but not any judgment arising from a preliminary examination).
 - (1a) An appeal does not, however, lie against an interlocutory judgment unless—
 - (a) the judgment stays the proceedings; or
 - (b) the judgment destroys or substantially weakens the basis of the prosecution case and, if correct, is likely to lead to abandonment of the prosecution; or

- (c) the Court or the appellate court is satisfied that there are special reasons why it would be in the interests of the administration of justice to have the appeal determined before commencement or completion of the trial and grants its permission for an appeal.
- (2) The appeal lies—
 - (a) in the case of an action relating to an offence categorised under the Summary Procedure Act 1921 as an industrial offence—to the Industrial Court; or
 - (b) in any other case—to the Supreme Court constituted of a single Judge (but the Judge may, if he or she thinks fit, refer the appeal for hearing and determination by the Full Court).
- (4) On an appeal, the appellate court may, if the interests of justice so require, re-hear any witnesses or receive fresh evidence.
- (5) On the hearing of the appeal, the appellate court may exercise any one or more of the following powers:
 - (a) it may confirm, vary or quash the judgment subject to the appeal and, if the Court thinks the interests of justice so require, it may vary or quash any other judgment given in the same or related proceedings;
 - (b) it may remit the case for hearing or further hearing before the Magistrates Court;
 - (c) it may make any other order (including an order for costs) that may be necessary or desirable in the circumstances.
- (6) Where a judgment or order has been confirmed, varied or made on appeal under this section, the Magistrates Court has the same authority to enforce that judgment or order as if it had not been appealed against or had been made in the first instance.

43—Reservation of question of law

- (1) The Court may reserve any question of law arising in a criminal action (except a preliminary examination of a charge of an indictable offence) for determination by a superior court.
- (2) The question will be reserved—
 - (a) if the question arises in proceedings related to an offence categorised under the Summary Procedure Act 1921 as an industrial offence—for determination by the Industrial Court;
 - (b) in any other case—for determination by the Supreme Court constituted of a single Judge (but the Judge may, if he or she thinks fit, refer the matter for determination by the Full Court).
- (3) The Court for whose determination a question of law is reserved under this section may determine the question and give any consequential orders or directions that may be appropriate in the circumstances of the case.

Part 7—Miscellaneous

44—Immunities

- (1) A Magistrate or other person exercising the jurisdiction of the Court has the same privileges and immunities from civil liability as a Judge of the Supreme Court.
- (2) A non-judicial officer of the Court incurs no civil or criminal liability for an honest act or omission in carrying out or purportedly carrying out official functions.

45—Contempt in face of Court

A person who—

- (a) interrupts the proceedings of the Court or misbehaves before the Court;
 - (b) insults a Magistrate, Registrar or other officer of the Court who is acting in the exercise of official functions;
 - (c) refuses, in the face of the Court, to obey a lawful direction of the Court,
- is guilty of a contempt of the Court.

46—Punishment of contempts

The Court may punish a contempt as follows:

- (a) it may impose a fine (not exceeding a Division 5 fine); or
- (b) it may commit to prison for a specified term (not exceeding Division 5 imprisonment) or until the contempt is purged.

47—Custody of litigant's funds and securities

- (1) The Registrar is responsible for the proper custody of money paid into the Court and securities delivered to the Court in connection with proceedings in the Court.
- (2) The Treasurer guarantees the safe keeping of any such money or security from the time it comes into the Court's custody until it lawfully ceases to be in that custody.
- (3) Any liability arising under the guarantee will be satisfied from the General Revenue of the State (which is appropriated to the necessary extent).
- (4) Money paid into the Court may be invested in a manner authorised by the rules and any interest or accretions arising from the investment will be dealt with as prescribed by the rules.
- (5) Any money in the Court's custody that has remained unclaimed for six years or more may be dealt with under the Unclaimed Moneys Act 1891.

48—Miscellaneous provisions relating to legal process

- (1) Any process of the Court may be issued, served or executed on a Sunday as well as any other day.
- (2) The validity of process is not affected by the fact that the person who issued it dies or ceases to hold office.

48A—Service

- (1) If it is not practicable to serve any process, notice or other document relating to civil or criminal proceedings in the manner otherwise prescribed or contemplated by law, the Court may, by order—
 - (a) provide for service by post; or
 - (b) make any other provision that may be necessary or desirable for service.
- (2) Any process, notice or other document served in accordance with an order under subsection (1) will, despite any other law, be taken to have been duly served.

48B—Trials of sexual offences involving children to be given priority

- (1) The Court will give the necessary directions to ensure that a trial of a sexual offence where the alleged victim of the offence is a child is given priority over any less urgent criminal trial and is dealt with as expeditiously as the proper administration of justice allows.
- (2) In this section—

sexual offence means—

 - (a) rape; or
 - (b) indecent assault; or
 - (c) any offence involving unlawful sexual intercourse or an act of gross indecency; or
 - (d) incest; or
 - (e) any offence involving sexual exploitation or abuse of a child, or exploitation of a child as an object of prurient interest; or
 - (f) any attempt to commit, or assault with intent to commit, any of the offences referred to in a preceding paragraph.

49—Rules of Court

- (1) Rules of the Court may be made—
 - (a) regulating the business of the Court and the duties of the various officers of the Court; and
 - (b) regulating the custody and use of the Court's seals; and
 - (c) regulating the practice and procedure of the Court; and
 - (ca) imposing mutual obligations on parties to proceedings in the Court to disclose to each other the contents of expert reports or other material of relevance to the proceedings before the proceedings are brought to trial; and

 - (d) regulating the form in which evidence is taken or received by the Court; and
 - (da) empowering the Court—

- (i) to order the carrying out of a biological or other scientific test that may be relevant to the determination of a question before the Court; and
 - (ii) to include in such an order directions about the carrying out of the test and, in particular, directions requiring a person (including a party to the proceedings) to submit to the test or to have a child or other person who is not of full legal capacity submit to the test; and
 - (iii) if a party is required to submit to the test, or to have another submit to the test—to include in the order a stipulation that, if the party fails to comply with the order, the question to which the test is relevant will be resolved adversely to the party; and
- (e) regulating costs; and
 - (f) dealing with any other matter necessary or expedient for the effective and efficient operation of the Court.
- (2) Rules of the Court may be made by the Chief Magistrate, the Deputy Chief Magistrate and any two or more other Magistrates.
 - (3) Rules of the Court take effect from the date of publication in the Gazette or some later date specified in the rules.

50—Court fees

- (2) The Court may remit or reduce a fee on account of the poverty of the party by whom the fee is payable or for any other proper reason.

51—Accessibility of evidence

- (1) Subject to this section, the Court must, on application by any member of the public, allow the applicant to inspect or obtain a copy of—
